ASHLEY HALL'S MISSION,

"to produce educated women who are independent, ethically responsible and prepared to meet the challenges of society with confidence" has vibrantly resonated on this campus since 1909. For the 2016 – 2017 school year, the Ashley Hall community demonstrated its affinity and excitement for this mission and our girls.

Thank you for your passion, profound dedication and loyal support for Ashley Hall.
You deserve a resounding P–Q–V!

We celebrate Ashley Hall's generous community similar to our girls celebrating while in Sicily during Carnival, the culminating trip of the Amalthea Scholar's Program. Amalthea was a year-long program fostering scholarship and creativity where students examined the modern and ancient settings of Sicily through research, on-site exploration, and the completion of an interdisciplinary capstone-styled project.

Thank you!

PIPER PARKER MOFFATT '70

I arrived at Ashley Hall as a boarding student from a small town in Kentucky when I was 14, leaving behind my parents and three brothers, scared and intimidated but also excited about what was to come. Because of my parents and Ashley Hall, my fears were replaced with confidence and a wide-eyed sense of adventure. I still love to learn. I know what hard work is. I have friends and “sisters” for a lifetime that I never had before Ashley Hall, and I am grateful for the Ashley Hall “magic” that has been part of my DNA ever since. I grew up in a generation when women were just beginning to realize their full potential, and we were encouraged to be whatever we wanted to be. Ashley Hall helped me do just that. For me, it meant a 35-year career in international public policy, trade and export finance, representing the U.S. government, serving as an official spokesperson for the Export-Import Bank of the U.S. with multilateral organizations like the World Trade Organization, and negotiating with foreign government officials and corporate dignitaries, all in an effort to ensure a level international playing field for U.S. exporting companies and supporting and preserving U.S. jobs. I was fortunate to have worked with so many wonderful people and to have traveled the world. Throughout my career, an important Ashley Hall lesson was echoed constantly—show respect and compassion for everyone, no matter what differences you might otherwise have. This lesson, along with the confidence Ashley Hall instilled in me, enabled me to be largely successful in my work and personal life, despite many challenges, and, yes, some failures, too. Since retiring, I now focus on my passions: serving as Vice Chair of the local Humane Society, serving the Chesapeake Bay Foundation as a member of the President’s Advisory Council, teaching financial literacy, and my family. In that regard, my professional life in public service has only been surpassed by my life as a very proud and fortunate mother (facing the elusive balance between mothering and working). My son is my most treasured “accomplishment,” and I am now also a grandmother to two wonderful and sassy grandchildren. As I observe them all, I am quite sure that each of them has gotten some of my Ashley Hall “magic” DNA. What better gift to pass along!

Thank you Ashley Hall.

"Because of my parents and Ashley Hall, my fears were replaced with confidence and a wide-eyed sense of adventure."

"I am so grateful to have had the opportunity to study at Ashley Hall, and I can definitively say this school has shaped the person I am today."

ROSSI ANASTOPOULO '13

Ashley Hall played an indelible role in my time as a Morehead-Cain Scholar at the University of North Carolina. Not only did it instill me with the confidence necessary to achieve in the classroom-especially in smaller class discussions- but it also directly shaped my two majors, Global Studies and Sports & Social Issues. In particular, my Ashley Hall Senior Project on sports and the Civil Rights Movement sparked a passion that led me to create my own major at Carolina. It gave me the purpose with which to deviate from traditional fields of study in order to pursue my dedication to the intersection of sports and society, eventually leading to an internship in the Community Impact Department of the Cleveland Indians. Furthermore, the focus Ashley Hall places on communities outside of our own taught me how to incorporate compassion into my work, which I will continue this coming year through a year of service with AmeriCorps. I am so grateful to have had the opportunity to study at Ashley Hall, and I can definitively say this school has shaped the person I am today.

Educational experiences are often likened to personal journeys. Children, even before they are aware that they have set forth, envision the places they will see, the people they will meet, and the person they will one day become. Their journey from the present, here, to the future, there, depends not only on their own determination but on all those who support and guide them along the way.

For over a century, Ashley Hall has provided steady guidance and boundless opportunities to countless young women. Here are just a few upcoming initiatives that support our girls during their course from Here to There.

TO THERE

---

Studies show that students decide as early as second grade whether they have an interest in and believe they can excel in math and science. Connecting students at a young age with STEAM subjects that support problem solving, innovation, and creative design can encourage students to envision themselves in these professions as adults.

STEAM

The importance of STEAM (Science, Technology, Engineering, Art, Math), especially for girls is being heralded in major scholarly publications, and Ashley Hall is proud of the growth of its STEAM curriculum from the Early Education Center through the Upper School. New hardware and software are putting resources into the hands of our students and exposing them to the interdisciplinary work of problem solving, coding, and design engineering. To support this critical work, spaces on campus will be repurposed and upgraded. The LoDome has been built over Pardue Hall, and Jenkins Hall science labs will be renovated to accommodate expanded programming. The LoDome will not only provide an additional 2,000 square feet of dedicated space to facilitate and maximize collaboration across grade levels, but it will add the highest level of security and protection from the elements for this area of our campus. Its name has been chosen to honor Ashley Hall's beloved Lois Ruggerio, who has made it her life's mission for almost four decades to educate girls.

93% of girls' school graduates say they were offered greater leadership opportunities than their coed peers and 80% have held leadership positions since graduating from high school.

Goodman Research Group

One phrase that is heard often on campus is “it’s all about the girls” – and indeed that is the case. Designed with the student at the center, Ashley Hall’s Department of Student Life weaves the fostering of important life skills into the girls’ daily curriculum. The intention is to ensure that as our girls become women, they will have the necessary tools to become well-rounded and healthy adults. Ashley Hall’s signature Student Life program includes physical education, nutrition, wellness, college, personal and academic counseling, financial literacy and other pertinent life skills. As we think of our institution from Here to There, a physical hub, a Student Life Center, is needed to house these important programs.

TRAVEL

Ashley Hall's Global Studies Program fosters the school's hallmark, worldly, through robust linguistic programs, abundant travel abroad opportunities and an international boarding program. Ten travel opportunities are being offered during this school year, allowing for a full immersion experience in the focused subject-centered curriculum. A fund to establish scholarship support for travel has been created to ensure every girl has an opportunity to engage in this program.

An Ashley Hall girl travels not only to see the world but to discover herself.

Initiatives

Thank you to these incredibly generous donors who led the way for the future of Ashley Hall by making a gift to one of the major initiatives. They are pioneers of the journey.

The 1909 Society, named for the school's founding year, recognizes donors who annually give $1,909 or more to the Loyalty Fund. They are the lifeline of the annual fund and school. We thank this leadership group for their continued commitment to Ashley Hall.
