

Society and Club News

Standing Room For "Claudia"

The closing performance of "Claudia," sixth and last membership play of this season by the Footlight Players, will be given this evening at 8:30 o'clock at the Footlight Players Workshop, 20 Queen street. The play's unusual popularity was evidenced in a complete sell-out for tonight shortly after the box office opened this morning.

A member of tonight's audience will be Alfred Noyes, famed British poet, who will be the guest of Miss A. G. D. Wiles of The Citadel.

Rocking Chairs
Last night's large audience overflowed beyond the canvas and frame benches onto a variety of chairs borrowed from backstage, the upstairs office, costumes rooms, and every available place in the building. Some of the spectators enjoyed the comedy from the comfortable vantage point of rocking chairs. Even the elaborate gilded sofa which usually decorates the lobby was swung into line with the stage.

The final demand on the facilities of the Workshop were made (and met) with the arrival five minutes before curtain time of a large contingent of service men. The Players have issued a standing invitation to all service men and their dates to attend the performances free of charge.

Meeting
Tomorrow night the annual meeting of the Footlight Players will be held in the Workshop at 8:15 o'clock, with the president, Alfred Rutty, in the chair. Following the business session, which will include the election of officers, a special tenth anniversary program will be presented.

On Friday evening, June 6, the Junior Footlight Players will present a three-act mystery, comedy, "As the Clock Strikes," at the Workshop. There will be no reservation of seats. Members will be admitted upon showing their membership cards. Non-members will be charged a nominal fee.

Setzer-Viard Marriage Sunday
Miss Doris O'Neda Viard, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Viard, of Charleston, and Mr. Homer N. Setzer, Jr., also of Charleston, will be married Sunday evening at 6 o'clock at the Hampton Park Baptist church.

The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. Walter O. Kersey, pastor of the Hampton Park Baptist church, and the Rev. F. W. Brandt, pastor of the St. Barnabas Lutheran church.

A program of music will be played by Mrs. C. B. Cushing, organist, and Miss Sally Ruth Carraway, soloist, will sing.

Miss Viard will have as her maid of honor and only attendant her sister, Miss Jeanette Harriet Viard. Mr. Setzer will have as his best man Mr. F. Watson Canady, Messrs. James Lesley Mazzyck and John Canady will serve as ushers. The wedding will be followed by a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Burris, uncle and aunt of the bride, 82 Cypress street.

Following the wedding rehearsal on Saturday at 7:45 p. m., a reception will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Homer N. Setzer, parents of the bridegroom, 40 Carolina street.

Walterboro News of Interest
Walterboro, May 29.—Mrs. W. J. McLeod was hostess to the last meeting of the Walterboro Book club for the season Tuesday afternoon. Twelve members were present. The president, Mrs. F. Parker, named as the book committee for the new year, Mrs. E. L. Fishburne, Mrs. J. M. Witsell and Mrs. J. M. Moore. The club donated $15.00 to the mid-wives clinic which is held each year.

Much interest was shown in the selection of the subject of study for the 1942-1943 season, which has been worked out in detail by Mrs. H. E. Thomas, Mrs. W. J. McLeod, Jr., and Mrs. Riddick Ackerman, Jr. The committee decided on the subject "The Cultural Heritage of the Orient." The programs were done in scrolls, the backgrounds of which were dainty floral design. The scroll was tied with Chinese red ribbon. The subject was introduced with the Chinese symbol of peace. The topics are planned as panel discussions. Sub-topics include: Chinese Landscape; Exotic Music; The Twist of the Obi; Painture Chinese, Mongol Journeys, Evening Festivals; Oriental Drama; Christmas Candles; Chinese Chopsticks; Imperial Incense; Pagodas and Pavilions; Dragon Scales; Eastern Gods; Celebrations; Enticing Horizons; The Dalai Lama; The Cradle of Life; The Mother of Gardens, and the Change in China.

In outlining the program Mrs. Thomas expressed the need for the citizens of America to know more about the empire which is drawing closer and closer and the importance of knowing more about this land. She announced the personnel for each meeting as well as the subjects. Before adjourning for the summer the club ordered a social hour with the hostess who served refreshments.

Shelton J. Jones, son of Mrs. Olga D. Jones, of Walterboro, and the late Shelton J. Jones, graduated at Clemons College May 28, with a B. S. degree in industrial education. While at Clemons Mr. Jones was a member of Iota Lambda Sigma fraternity, an honorary national fraternity that has a branch chapter at Pennsylvania State College. He was also member of the Iota Epsilon fraternity, a social industrial education fraternity. During his senior year Mr. Jones held the rank of first lieutenant in the cadet corps. At the present he is spending a few days in Walterboro with his family before reporting for duty, June 12, at Fort Waters, Texas. He enters the service as a second lieutenant.

Lake City Social News
Lake City, May 29.—The Wednesday afternoon book club held its last meeting of the season at the home of Mrs. Wesley W. Singletary, with about thirty guests and members present. The president, Mrs. W. E. Abrams, presided, and the program for the afternoon was given by several of the winners in the recent declamation and recitation contests, held by the Lake City schools. Those taking part on this varied program were the Misses Mary Lee Flowers, Miriam Chandler and Carolyn Eaddy; also, Joe Nettles and Billy Byrd Williams, each of these winning a first place in the contests. Following a short business hour the hostess served her guests with punch and several kinds of cookies.

Miss Evelyn Prosser entertained the younger group of her neighborhood on Wednesday evening, with a bingo party. The tables were arranged in living and dining rooms and the porch. Each table was centered with candles. During the many games, a number of prizes were awarded. The hostess assisted by friends served a sweet frozen course. There were eighteen guests present at this summer party.

ASHLEY HALL TO DO "MUCH ADO ABOUT NOTHING" TOMORROW NIGHT
Students at Ashley Hall will appear tomorrow night at 8:45 o'clock, on the school grounds, in their annual Shakespearean production. Seen above for this year's play, "Much Ado About Nothing," are (left to right): Miss Barbara Pierce, of Rye, N. Y., as Beatrice; Miss Neva Johnson, of New London, Conn., as Hero; Miss Delight Nuchols, of Charlotte, N. C., as Claudio; and Miss McCoy Metts, of Fort Bragg, N. C., as Benedick.

Ashley Hall to Do "Much Ado About Nothing" Tomorrow Night

Students at Ashley Hall will appear tomorrow night at 8:45 o'clock, on the school grounds, in their annual Shakespearean production. Seen above for this year's play, "Much Ado About Nothing," are (left to right): Miss Barbara Pierce, of Rye, N. Y., as Beatrice; Miss Neva Johnson, of New London, Conn., as Hero; Miss Delight Nuchols, of Charlotte, N. C., as Claudio; and Miss McCoy Metts, of Fort Bragg, N. C., as Benedick.

SAYINGS OF Dorothy Dix

In-law Problem Menaces Almost Every Marriage—Mother Should Not Visit Married Son Too Often or Wear Out Welcome

No one will deny that the greatest danger that menaces almost every marriage is the in-law problem. Compared to her—for it is nearly always a case of female trouble—the philandering husband and the sloppy housekeeper wife are merely minor inconveniences. Mothers-in-law and daughters-in-law, who get in each other's hair, are first aid to the divorce court, and draw in anyone who sees what should be happy marriages.

Why two noble Christian women, who are ladies, to boot, and who take the trouble to appease everybody else they know, should adopt guerrilla tactics in dealing with each other, nobody knows. Nor can anyone explain why the two women who love the same man and who desire his well-being do the one thing that they know destroys his peace and makes him most miserable. Neither can anyone see why two otherwise intelligent women do not perceive that the in-law relationship is whatever they make it, and that it can be either their greatest blessing or their worst curse.

These are mysteries hidden in the feminine psychology which the light of common sense seldom penetrates, and the only remedy for the situation seems to be for every man to pick out a girl, who was a door-step baby, for his bride; but inasmuch as there are not enough of these to go around it does seem in-law should be able to negotiate some sort of a plan that would enable them to be friends instead of congenial enemies.

The mother-in-law, for instance, might camouflage herself if she does not keep her son in a perpetual babyhood. By the time he gets along in his twenties he outgrows his rompers and having Mother hold him by the hand and pick out his little plays allows for him, and he wants to start out on his own; and no matter how much Mother weeps over his little shoes and his little red tricycle, he can't go back to them. There are other interests, other people in his life, and it is then that Mother will have to decide whether she shall share him with his wife, or lose out altogether.

Mother-in-law might well and profitably do a little remembering when her son gets married and recall how she felt as a bride, how she wanted to monopolize her husband's every thought and interest, how jealous she was of any interference of her authority, how determined she was to do her own way, how absolutely certain she was that she knew all the answers. Remembering these things, mother-in-law will never go to live with her daughter-in-law as long as there is an Old Ladies Home left in the community. She will never even visit John and his wife too often or stay long enough to wear out her welcome. She will never criticize daughter-in-law's house-keeping or tell how she used to do things. And when the babies come, she will let their mother rear them according to the Baby Book and not by the way grandmother says she reared hers.

Suggestions for Happiness
If mother-in-law has the courage

Mrs. Pollock Presents Student Piano Recital

Piano pupils of Mrs. Carl W. Pollock were presented in recital Wednesday night at the Musical Art club hall, before a large and appreciative audience.

The guest soloist of the evening was Mrs. J. Arthur Mack, Jr., who gave a series of vocal selections.

The program follows:
"The Star Spangled Banner" (Smith), Davis Powers and Leonard Scott; "The Long Trail," "The Merry Clown" (Thompson), Colleen O'Kelly; "Man in the Moon," "Swans on the Lake" (Thompson), Catherine Tharp; "Scissors Grinder," "The Robin" (Thompson), Caroline Strawn; "In May," (Behr), "Cradle Song" (Von Weber), Betty Scott; "The Fairies' Harp," "Chimes" (Thompson), Jo Ann Stewart; "The Fox Hunt," (Thompson), "Long Long Ago" (Bayly), Tommy Thornley; "Distant Bells" (Streabog), Frances Likes; "Menuet" (Bach), "I Want a Willow Tree" (Carney), Jackie Weber; "On Yonder Rock Reclining" (Auber), "Old Black Joe" (S. Foster), Jimmy Ashurst; "Country Gardens" (arr.) and the ability to keep her tongue behind her teeth and her fingers out of daughter-in-law's pies, daughter-in-law's suspicions will die down and her animosity perish, and she will take mother-in-law into her heart.

And on her part, if the daughter-in-law will try as hard to sell herself to her mother-in-law as she did to mother-in-law's son, she will make a friend who will stand by her and back her up in all her arguments with her husband and help in every time of trouble. It is much easier for a daughter-in-law to make friends with her mother-in-law, for every woman knows that whether she keeps her son or loses him when he marries depends upon whether her daughter-in-law likes her or not.

And as the mother-in-law should do a little backward thinking in her treatment of her daughter-in-law, the daughter-in-law should do a little forward thinking to a time when the curly-headed little baby boy on her breast will be taking to himself a wife, and that she will treat her mother-in-law as she hopes her son's wife will treat her. (Released by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Courtenay School Class Mothers

The Courtenay school class mothers met Wednesday in the home of Mrs. J. C. Whiten, 164-B St. Philip street.

The meeting was opened by the new chairman, Mrs. J. A. Westbury, with The Lord's Prayer. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. Mrs. A. C. Driggers, chairman for this year, reviewed what the class mothers had done.

After the business session a game was played. Prizes were won by Mrs. T. P. Sellers and Mrs. H. W. Carter.

Mrs. Whiten served refreshments to eleven members.

Personal Mention

Miss Dorothy Wild, a student at the University of Tennessee, has returned to her home at North Charleston for the summer holidays. She will be a senior at the University next year.

Miss Alice Scott, of 640 Rutledge avenue, has as her house guest Miss Jean Dinkins, of Columbia. The two are attending the commencement hop series of dances at The Citadel.

Mrs. T. C. Farnell, formerly of Charleston, now of Branford, Fla., will leave Monday after a visit to relatives in Charleston.

President of Exchange Auxiliary

MRS. F. W. STEVENS

Syllabus

By SYBELLA

Who isn't snood-minded? Since you can't name one who isn't, we hasten to mention the simple net or veiling snood for evening wear—one of the happiest and most flattering fashions of the year. For instance, one of red lace with velvet bows, another of pink point d'esprit tied with a pink velvet bow on which is perched a honey bee of diamonds and rubies; and another of black net, tied with velvet, and worn with a diamond crescent on the velvet band.

In case you are really interested: start with a piece of net or veiling three quarters of a yard square, fold it diagonally and cut round the edges (cut triangle into a half circle); run ribbon or elastic around the edge, tied on top with a pert bow of narrow velvet ribbon, and there's nothing more to be said. Say a half hour and a half dollar and you're set.

If you want to elaborate tie tiny bows of ribbon in different colors, fold it diagonally and cut round the edges (cut triangle into a half circle); run ribbon or elastic around the edge, tied on top with a pert bow of narrow velvet ribbon, and there's nothing more to be said. Say a half hour and a half dollar and you're set.

ASHLEY HALL ANNUAL PLAY

The students at Ashley Hall will present their annual Shakespearean play, this year "Much Ado About Nothing," tomorrow evening at 8:45 o'clock on the school grounds. Miss Mary Vardine McBe, principal of the school, directs the plays.

The public is invited to attend and a small admission fee will be charged.

The following is a list of the actors:
Benedick, a young Lord of Padua, McCoy Metts; Don Pedro, Prince of Aragon, Edith Bickle; Don John, his bastard brother, Ann Kelly; Claudio, a young Lord of Florence, Delight Nuchols; Leonata, governor of Messina, Patricia Green; Antonio, his brother, Jean Monteith; Belthasar, attendant on Don Pedro, Laurel Tolles; Borachio and Conrade, followers of Don John, Franklin Broxton and Anne Selden; Friar Francis, Susan Estey; Dogberry, a constable, Betty Bowers; Verges, a headborough, Nancy Comstock; Seacole and Oatcake, watchmen, Elizabeth Wheaton and Ann Skipper; boy, Laurel Tolles; Sexton, Mary Minnik; watchmen, Virginia Mitchell and Katherine O'Meara; hero, Neva Johnson; Margaret and Ursula, gentlewomen attending on Hero, Jane Ashworth and Barbara Williams, and Beatrice, niece to Leonata, Barbara Pines.

Also, Revellers: Harriet Carey, Nancy Faulkner, Jane Moore, Betty Bowers, Shirley Haddock, Johanna Hiott, Corina McBe, Lisa Paul, Isabella Stony, Sally Thrower, Peggy Wier, Harriet Carey, Nancy Faulkner, Ann Ingraham, Frances Jenkins, Jane Moore, Shavawn Robinson, Mildred Reed and Jane Wolf.

The Madrigal club of the school is composed of: Mary Anderson, Margaret Allison, Elise Ayers, Maria Brett, Jean Burns, Harriet Carey, Pamela Chambers, Frances Cheshire, Elizabeth Daniels, Ruth Dravo, Nancy Ervin, Nancy Faulkner, Lily FitzSimons, Martha Gregory, Helen Hall, Ann Ingraham, Anne Kramer, Rose McLeon, Marjorie Maxwell, Jeanne McLean, Jeanette Marlett, Eleanor Offutt, Lucy Paul, Mildred Reed, Jane Rice, Mary Rowe, Josephine Sessions, Joyce Speissegger, Katherine Stevens, Laurel Tolles, Barbara Van Clief, Janet Van de Erve and Bernice Watland.

Houge-Lieb Marriage

The marriage of Miss Louise Elizabeth Lieb, of Atlanta, to Mr. Eric Marion Houge, of Newberry, took place Monday evening at 6 p. m. at St. Matthew's Lutheran church with Dr. Walter C. Davis, pastor of the church, officiating.

The music was rendered by Mrs. Henry Losse, organist, and Mrs. J. B. Taylor, soloist, who sang several vocal solos including "I Love You Truly," "Because" and the "Marriage Prayer." The traditional wedding marches were played.

The couple, unattended, entered the church together and spoke the vows before an improvised altar. The bride wore a dress of aqua crepe trimmed in lace with a pleated apron effect, white accessories and a corsage of white orchids.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Leon Taylor, at 99 Queen street. Mrs. George Hawkins presided at the punch bowl. Assisting with the serving was Mrs. Ernest Clary.

Mrs. Henry R. Lieb, mother of the bride, wore a dress of maize printed Catalina with white accessories and a corsage of mixed spring flowers.

Mrs. Ernest Clary, sister of the bridegroom, wore a dress of navy sheer with blue accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses.

Mrs. Houge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Lieb, of Atlanta, is a graduate of Newberry college.

Mr. Houge, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William M. Houge, of Newberry, is a graduate of the 1942 class of Newberry college. He was active in athletics, and was voted one of the outstanding students. He is now employed at the Ordnance depot.

Out-of-town guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Lieb, of Atlanta, Ga., and Mr. and Mrs. Lieb, of Newberry, parents of the bride; Mrs. Ernest

Blankets... Comforts

Don't take chances with your precious Blankets and Comforts... let us clean them for you the modern, more efficient way... this makes them wear better and last longer...

Don't your sunlit—it looks as though the gray skies have departed for the week-end.

Mrs. L. Russell Rawls' Student Recital
Mrs. L. Russell Rawls will present a student voice recital at the Musical Art club hall Monday evening at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Rawls' guest soloist will be Lieut. J. S. Woodward, senior Lieutenant. Woodward will be accompanied by Mrs. Marguerite Inman Siegling.

Appearing on the program will be the following students: Anna Pease, Thelma Dempsy, Mary Griggs, Thelma Padberg, Thelma Kilpatrick, Reva Covington, Doris Jean Knight, Louise Adams, Mrs. H. L. Carter, Jr., Ida Mae Howard, Margaret Jean Rutledge. All friends of the young singers are invited to attend the recital.

Office Instructor, Student Killed
Montgomery, Ala., May 29. (AP)—Flight Instructor Lt. Burton P. Marley, 22, of East Orange, N. J., and British Aviation Cadet Frank Rodgers, 22, of London, were killed when their training plane from Gunter field crashed 2 1/2 miles east of here yesterday, army officials announced today.

Mrs. Tippins Weds Mr. Scales

Mrs. Maymie Tippins, of Savannah, was married to Mr. B. I. Scales, of Baltimore, Md., last evening at 7:30 o'clock, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Smith, on the Meeting street road. The Rev. Luther Knight, pastor of the Charleston Heights Baptist church, officiated.

Mrs. Lloyd L. Denmark, niece of the bride, was the matron of honor and only attendant. Mr. Denmark was the bridegroom's best man.

The bride wore a navy blue sheer crepe dress with navy accessories and a corsage of white gardenias.

A dinner party was given by Mr. and Mrs. Smith following the ceremony. After a wedding trip the couple will reside in Baltimore.

Mrs. Scales is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Youmans, of Georgia.

Mr. Scales is employed in Baltimore with the Pennsylvania railroad.

Clary, sister of the bridegroom, of Newberry.

Authorized Official Agents for Agassiz, Longines, Hamilton, Gruen, Elgin, Bulova, Benrus, Waltham, Helbros, Gothic Jarproof, Bond, Gotham, Shock-built, Rima, Cort and Munwell Watches.

Other DIAMOND RINGS At $12.50 to $1,000.00

Sold on Easy and Convenient Credit Terms to Suit Your Budget.

Authorized Official Agents for Agassiz, Longines, Hamilton, Gruen, Elgin, Bulova, Benrus, Waltham, Helbros, Gothic Jarproof, Bond, Gotham, Shock-built, Rima, Cort and Munwell Watches.

LEROY JEWELRY COMPANY

Modern Credit Jewelers—Diamond Specialists
323 KING ST. DIAL 7246
Charleston's Oldest and Largest Credit Jewelry Store

Blankets... Comforts

Don't your sunlit—it looks as though the gray skies have departed for the week-end.

Mrs. L. Russell Rawls' Student Recital
Mrs. L. Russell Rawls will present a student voice recital at the Musical Art club hall Monday evening at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Rawls' guest soloist will be Lieut. J. S. Woodward, senior Lieutenant. Woodward will be accompanied by Mrs. Marguerite Inman Siegling.

Appearing on the program will be the following students: Anna Pease, Thelma Dempsy, Mary Griggs, Thelma Padberg, Thelma Kilpatrick, Reva Covington, Doris Jean Knight, Louise Adams, Mrs. H. L. Carter, Jr., Ida Mae Howard, Margaret Jean Rutledge. All friends of the young singers are invited to attend the recital.

Office Instructor, Student Killed
Montgomery, Ala., May 29. (AP)—Flight Instructor Lt. Burton P. Marley, 22, of East Orange, N. J., and British Aviation Cadet Frank Rodgers, 22, of London, were killed when their training plane from Gunter field crashed 2 1/2 miles east of here yesterday, army officials announced today.

KILLS ROACHES
T.N.T. ROACH KILLER
WITHOUT NESS OR BOTHER
"IT'S GOT WHAT IT TAKES"
You said it, sister!
T.N.T.'s the one best bet.
For killing roaches.
There's nothing like it yet.

Stoll's Alley Sweater Shop
10 STOLL'S ALLEY
Final Summer Closing SALE

$1.00 Hind's HONEY & ALMOND CREAM	49c	Pond's Cold Cream - 83c	50c
FIRST AID KITS	59c	Pond's Face Powder - 28c	50c
14 Single Edge STAR BLADES	21c	LIFEBOUY, LUX OR CAMAY SOAP, 3 For	17c
		$1.00 FITCH NEW PROCESS OIL SHAMPOO	49c
		NOXZEMA GREASE-LESS SUN TAN LOTION	33c
		KOTEX 12's	22c
		2 FOR 43c
		Phillip's Milk of Magnesia	26c
		25c
		AMMEN'S HEAT POWDER	39c

PRESCRIPTIONS FILLED WHILE YOU WAIT BY REGISTERED PHARMACIST

SILVER'S
KOTEX 12's
2 FOR 43c
50c
Phillip's Milk of Magnesia
26c
25c
AMMEN'S HEAT POWDER
39c

Blankets... Comforts
Specially Cleaned for Your Protection
Just Dial 5505

Blankets... Comforts
Specially Cleaned for Your Protection
Just Dial 5505

Blankets... Comforts
Specially Cleaned for Your Protection
Just Dial 5505